Shayna became involved with Navigators at ISU and went on staff with them as soon as she graduated. Shayna has served on staff with the Navigators at ISU, the University of South Carolina, and the University of Georgia.

In 2014, Shayna became the Chicago Collegiate Co-Director of The Navigators helping pioneer college ministries among the 70 plus college campuses in the Chicago area. She is also the Campus Director for the U. of IL at Chicago and Racial Equality Director. Her roles include recruiting, training, and discipling young staff as well as giving direction and vision to the various campus ministries. Shayna says, "I've never been more convinced that there is a great need for Kingdom workers in the harvest on urban campuses. I love seeking the Lord to give innovative ways to reach today's urban students. They are the leaders of tomorrow. Taking the Gospel to the diverse populations of Chicago and discipling students to know Jesus and to make Him know is what I eagerly give my life to."
