Hannah and Todd met in Prague in the summer of 1999 and married in 2001. Hannah continues to use her passion for teaching with her 5 kids, with women from her church in San Diego, and with other women leaders. She also writes occasionally for the Saturate Blog.

Todd and Hannah help train and coach dozens of churches throughout North America and more than 10 other countries including Russia, Romania, Estonia, Latvia, Spain, Denmark, South Korea, Australia, and South Africa. The training focuses on equipping normal people to live everyday life like Missionary Servants. This training was started and continues through the Soma Family of Churches.
