Dawa was born and raised in a Buddhist family and came to know the Lord Jesus in 1985 when he was serving in the military. He was educated in Northern India and worked in broadcasting for seven years, partnering with Equipping the Saints ministry in Dallas, TX.

Rev. Singye founded the Himalayan Good News Networking Ministry in 2010 and its goal is to raise up and equip more laborers for the harvest fields in India, Nepal, and Bhutan. Dawa and his leadership team work to empower rural church planters in building house church movements and their target groups are Buddhist and unreached peoples. A central part of this endeavor has become the Leadership Transformational Training Institute in Mirik, Darjeeling. In 2018, they held their 18th 50-day intensive training. These classes have trained more than 700 Christian leaders to more effectively take the gospel of Jesus Christ to the people in this challenging region.
