Gangadin is from Suriname of Indian and Hindu descent. He became a Christian at 22. Julie is from India and gave her life to Christ as an adult also. They served with Worldteam for over 40 years, retiring in 2016, the last 20 of which they were working among Muslims in London, England. Before that, they were in Suriname, South America doing many types of ministry which would bring people to Christ. In London, their goal was to see clusters of churches planted among Muslim-background believers. They continue to build relationships with former contacts, visiting in homes and going to social and religious events and help some local churches train believers in how to meet and witness to Muslims. They are also enjoying a little more time to spend with family and to be in the Word and pray.
